Welcome to your new look newsletter!

A Huge Thank You!

Jeff and Ruth Casterton joined the group in 1999-2000. Jeff took over the newsletter about 15 years ago. Ruth took on membership when the new data protection law changed. Jeff and Ruth say "It's more than just a drama group, it's like a family." We thank you for all your hard work Jeff and Ruth and look forward to seeing you soon!

East Bridgford Drama Group
OPEN EVENING
Friday 20th May at 7.30pm At East Bridgford Village Hall

Have you ever been curious to know what is involved in putting on a play?

Now is your chance! Join us for a chat over cheese and wine.

East Bridgford Drama Group perform over a wide range of genres, including comedies, thrillers and dramas.

Recent productions have included Hobson's Choice, How the Other Half Loves and the dark thriller Scared to Death. All produced to a very high standard!

We will be performing a short extract from our forthcoming play - A Month of Sundays, as well as showing videos of set build and past productions.

My wife and I joined the group 3 years ago and have found it very rewarding and enjoyable. Everyone enjoys working together to put on a quality show and we'll love to meet anyone who has considered drama in the past but perhaps have yet to put their name in the water.

Members Spotlight!

Meet Len Jackson

"I have been involved in amateur theatre for well over 35 years and a member of this wonderful group for 25 of those years. My wife Diana and I both act as well as help backstage and we enjoy the great social life that is part of being a member here. Our next play "A Month of Sundays" was written by the Great Bob Larby, a prolific writer with many TV productions to his name. I have been fortunate enough to be cast as the main character, John Cooper, a grumpy old codger with a slowly failing body. I can hear many of our regulars shouting "typecast" at this point!! Looking forward to seeing you all at the end of May" Len Jackson

Coming soon!

EBDG will be promoting the group at the East Bridgford Village Show, Saturday 25th June. More details to follow.
